

STATEMENT FROM STUART S. ZISHOLTZ

Every year I try and remind everyone about the time frames associated with filing a mechanic's lien and a payment bond claim. This article may be repetitive but it is essential to your livelihood and your business.

I cannot emphasize enough the importance of filing a mechanic's lien. Many times it is the difference between getting paid and not getting paid. By filing your lien you are protecting your interests. By not filing your lien, you may be jeopardizing your right to collect anything. Do not, however, wait for the last day to file your lien. Once the general contractor has been paid by the owner, your lien is essentially worthless.

Furthermore, many payment bonds contain strict requirements that notices be served on various parties within a specific time frame. Once that time frame expires, your right to recover may be jeopardized.

Be aware of the various pitfalls that exist. Many times the general contractor or the owner will drag you along until your time to file a lien or pursue the payment bond has expired. I have, therefore, listed the various time frames associated with filing a mechanic's lien or making a payment bond claim.
